1960年，爱尔兰人Daniel Dutton司长在距离新加坡15公里外的南部岛屿《安乐岛》上，进行一项大胆的实验。他坚信，犯人是可以通过劳动而改过，并主张废弃使用武器管制犯人。

在接下来的3年里，重犯们成了岛屿的开拓者，把荒岛变成一座没有铁栏杆的拘留所。但在1963年7月12日，80名犯人却发起了血腥的暴乱，导致4名司长的死亡和岛上一切设施的烧毁。

演出以华语、英语、福建和广东话呈献（附中、英字幕）；通过戏剧处理重新诠释这段血腥暴动的历史事件。

1960. Pulau Senang, located 15 miles south of Singapore was used in a bold experiment, led by Superintendent Daniel Dutton. He believed he could reform the inmates through labour, and abolished the use of arms to police them. Over the next three years, the detainees transformed the island into a jail without bars, as they constructed the prison settlement from scratch. However, things went horribly wrong on 12 July 1963, when a bloody riot initiated by the detainees led to the death of four officers and the burning of the settlement.

Performed in Mandarin, English, Hokkien and Cantonese (with English & Chinese surtitles); the play is a dramatic enactment of the events leading up to the tragedy.
